Compromises made

City Council oks tract

By Lynne Locke

The Upland City Council Monday night approved a tract of 31 homes north of 14th Street between Euclid and San Antonio avenues.

The development had been opposed by adjacent residents who feared their home values would decrease and they would lose privacy and their view of the mountains.

After meetings with home owners, Lewis Homes altered the tract plans to provide larger lots adjacent to larger homes on Harford Place.

The developer also agreed to share the cost of a block wall between the development and Harford Place. Home owners on Harford Place originally had requested the developer to bear the entire cost of the wall needed to keep children from trespassing on their way to and from school.

To solve the privacy problem, develper Richard Lewis said Lewis Homes would attempt to build one-story houses on at least two of the four lots adjacent to Harford Place. The four pie-shaped lots normally would have two-story homes.

Lewis noted the two-story plan leaves more distance than a one-story house between the rear of the homes and the existing Harford Place homes.

The developer also promised to build only single-story homes on the north side of 14th Street and to take special care to avoid using "a bare mass of stucco."

Homeowners on 14th Street had objected to two-story homes which would interfere with their view of the mountains.

The street plan was changed so one cul-de-sac is aligned with Quince Avenue. The other is set so headlights from cars coming south are aimed at garages rather than houses on 14th Street.

Harford Place resident Earnest Wagner said the compromises were "reasonably fair to everyone concerned." Councilman Hal Bailin and Mayor Abner Haldeman commended both home owners and developers for working together to solve "a matter which could create hostility for several years."

In other action Monday night the council:

—Awarded an $18,442.32 contract to supply rental uniforms for a two-year period to Welch's Industrial Uniforms of San Bernardino, which has supplied the uniforms for six years.

Welch's Industrial Uniforms and Blue Seal Coveralls Uniform Supply of Pomona made identical bids and could provide identical uniforms, according to John Dotson, general sales manager for Blue Seal.

The council decided to award the contract to Welch's Industrial Uniforms based on past performance.

—Authorized City Manager Lee Travers to apply for an Economic Development Administration grant to develop a light industrial subdivision east of Benson Avenue. Travers estimated the grant request at $50,000 with the city providing an equal amount.

—Denied a request for funds by the West End Drug Abuse Control (WEDAC). Local cities must provide 35 per cent of the program's budget in order for federal matching funds to be available.

The council denied the request because Upland's revenue-sharing funds have been committed to social services provided by the Upland Police Department. Bailin noted the city has no way of evaluating WEDAC's success or use of funds.

—Refused to reconsider the construction of a Fotomat kiosk in the shopping center at the southwest corner of Mountain Avenue and Foothill Boulevard. A letter from the Fotomat Corp. called the council's denial of the project "totally arbitrary and capricious" and said the corporation hoped the matter could be resolved without legal action.

City's crime rate increase lowest in West End

Upland has recorded an 8 per cent increase in serious crime — the lowest increase in the West End, according to a Police Department report.

Statistics for the first half of 1975 show other West End cities experienced a 31 per cent rise in "index crimes" including homicide, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary, theft and auto theft.

According to the report 50 per cent of the burglaries during the first three months of 1975 were solved through arrest. The national robbery clearance rate is 20 per cent. Robberies increased from one during the first three months of 1974 to 18 during the same period in 1975.

Upland also has recorded a 25 per cent increase in burglaries yearly for the last five years. Police Department officials believe many of the burglaries are committed by transients coming into Upland to burglarize upper class homes and apartments, according to the report.

Council authorizes Cable Airport water supply study

By Lynne Locke

The City Council Monday night authorized Gage-Babcock and Associates Inc., fire engineer consultants, to study improvements in the water supply at Cable Airport. The study will cost $665.

The owners of Cable Airport and Upland fire officials have disagreed on the amount of water which would be needed to control a fire at the airport.

The Cables have said a six-inch line would provide a flow of 1,190 gallons per minute, more than enough water according to national fire fighting standards.

Upland fire officials recommend an eight-inch pipe to provide 1,500 gallons of water per minute, the required amount for repair shops existing in the northwest section of the airport.

The city is requiring the fire fighting capacity be upgraded before issuing building permits for construction of aircraft hangers in the northeast corner of the airport.

Robert Nowak, attorney for the Cables, said installation of the eight-inch pipe would be "a terrible burden" since it would double the projected cost from $28,000 to $55,000.

In addition, he said, the city is requiring the airport to provide fire protection in an area where no building is taking place. The Cables lose $850-$900 per month in revenue through construction delays caused by the debate with the city, Nowak said.

Councilman Hal Bailin questioned whether the city is using the building permit as a means of reviewing fire protection for the entire airport rather than just for the new area.

City Manager Lee Travers said the city will not require the Cables to install all the pipe at once. "But it is important tha the eastern section of pipe be of proper size to support the whole system," he noted.

Installation of the water line is planned in three stages. In the first segment a line would be installed between the proposed building site and an old four-inch line from Benson Avenue.

After the city completes improvements on the Benson Avenue water line, the Cables will replace the old four-inch line with new pipes.

In the third stage of construction the Cables would extend the water line across the northern edge of the airport. The third stage would not occur until the Cables develop that section of the airport in three to five years, according to Paul Cable.

The Gage-Babcock study, expected to be completed by the September 2 council meeting, will include:

—Review of fire protection standards for the class of airport the Cable facility falls into.

—Report of the necessary number and approximate location of hydrants and size and routes for underground water mains.

—Plan suggesting stages for installation of hydrants and mains.

—Cost estimates for implementing the installation.

In other action Monday night the council, on a 3-2 vote, approved a tentative tract map for 105 lots on 19 acres north of 14th Street between Benson and Mountain avenues. Bailin and Mayor Abner Haldeman dissented.

The development, which is under the flight approach to Cable Airport, includes modular, factory-built houses, recreational areas, greenbelts and private streets.

Noting that the council has been against allowing residential areas under the airport flight path, Bailin said the present plan would be more compact with more people and more complaints about the airplanes.

He said the problem will not be solved by requiring the owners to sign a covenant that they won't sue the city because of the flight path. "The covenant won't be worth the paper it's printed on," he commented.

Without further discussion a majority of the council approved the development.

At Pepper Grove day camp

Local Brownies learn outdoor skills

Brownies and Junior Girl Scouts learned basic outdoor skills recently at Spanish Trails Girl Scout Council's "Pepper Grove day camp.

Upland and tricommunity girls were among the 85 day campers who learned about Girl Scouting and the out-of-doors while having a good time, according to assistant director Coralynn Geiger of Cucamonga.

The six-day "twilight" camp was held 2-8 p.m. at Upland Memorial Park, "a beautiful site, cool with a lot of trees," Mrs. Geiger said.

More than 50 Brownies worked on such outdoor skills and lashing, knotting and reading a compass. Brownies also did a lot of cooking which is not a normal part of the Brownie program, she noted.

Day campers played nature discovery games where they practiced such skills as identifying trees by examining the shape of the leaves. Art consultant Mrs. Glen Sears led groups in crafts incluidng decoupage, embroidery and leaf prints.

Highlight of the day camp for Junior girls was an overnight at the park. They also toured Upland City Hall and talked with city officials.

The whole camp enjoyed a "backward progressive dinner" where they visited a different group for each course starting with dessert.

Other courses included Pepper Grove spaghetti, french bread and salad. Mrs. Geiger said, "They loved eating dessert first. We were surprised they ate their dinner too."

The camp ended with a family campfire with groups performing skits. Girls also received awards from Mrs. Geiger and camp director Mrs. Pat Janitell of Cucamonga.

During the day camp girls met new people and learned how to get along with others. Camp units included girls who knew each other and girls from different troops and cities. Mrs. Geiger said the girls expanded friendships throuh the day camp experiences.

Senior Scouts serving as program aides for the day camp included Kelly Williams of Alta Loma, Diane Wamsley of Cucamonga and Uplanders Nadine Spears and Becky Ingels.

Adult leaders included the Mmes. James Heairet, shopper; V. Wamsley, quartermaster; and V. Comstock, first aider; all of Cucamonga. Others are Mrs. Ken Bailey of Alta Loma, mascot unit leader; and Mrs. James Spears of Upland, business manager.

The Brownie program was directed by the Mmes. J. Blackburn and Claudia Dean both of Upland; L. Hendricks and W. Day of Cucamonga; and R. Jedlick of Alta Loma. Uplanders Mrs. C. R. Ingels and Mrs. Ray Warner led the Junior program.

Spanish Trails Council is a participating member of the United Way Inc., West End United Way and the United Way of Orange County. It is an affirmative action agency.

'Experiential' teaching developed

Discussing a program developed in the Ontario-Montclair School District are three principals in the project. From left, they are Dr. Norman Steinaker, project specialist; Dr. Marilyn Harrison, research assistant, and Dr. Bob Bell, assistant superintendent for instruction. The program is based on the premise that students learn and retain principles better if they use them in their own personal experience.

While most area educators have been enjoying summer vacation, three Ontario-Montclair School District administrators have been busily planning for classroom use an approach to education so innovative it has drawn inquiries from all over the United States and seven other countries.

The project — call Experiential Taxonomy — is the brainchild of Assistant Superintendent of instruction Bob Bell. It is based on the premise that children will learn more and retain it better if they experience the conept or skill being taught. Students will retain math skills better, for example, if they have to use them in real situations such as grocery shopping.

But the project goes beyond skill learning. Dr. Norman Steinaker, project specialist in charge of developing the project, explains that "a taxonomy is simply a classification, in this case of educational objectives. In the past, there have been three major domains recognized in education: The cognitive, concerning the ability to think; the affective, concerning attitudes, behavior and values, and psychomotor, concerning physical-mental coordination.

"The experiential is the fourth educational domain," says Steinaker. "It combines all three of the others and goes beyond by dealing with the child as a whole, a total being, in terms of experience. If students encounter the proper experiences, they develop their total selves—intellectually, behaviorally and physically.

"We are developing an underlying structure for ordering a sequence of classroom activities that iwll develop the whole child. The experiential actually differs from the other three deomains in four major ways by:

—Using experience to educate and develop.

—Offering a planned program for internalizing education (making it a continuing part of the child.)

—Providing a plan for disseminating learning (students want to teach other students.)

—And presenting a comprehensive plan for dealing with the whole child.

Steinaker pointed out that "internalization is one of the most valuable aspects of our taxonomy. Every teacher wants the presented material to become a part of the child, to be used in life situations. Our structure gives the teacher a planned program for making learned skills and concepts a part of the child's total make up.

"Instead of learning material for tests and forgetting it, the child learns, uses what has been learned and retains it. The experiential plan can be applied to any curriculum for any type of student at any level of development."

Dr. Bell, the man who originated the program, said he found in his papers last week a note he had made to himself 13 years ago "to develop the Experiential Taxonomy, but never found the time till Norm (Steinaker) came along and we collaborated." Bell is still actively involved in the development of the project and is constantly consulted on matters concerning its directions.

Steinaker liked Bell's idea and worked with him in writing the article that brought the project to world attention: "A Proposed Taxonomy of Educational Objectives: The Experiential Domain." The article was published in the January 1975 issue of Educational Technology, a nationally known educational journal. Another aritcle, "A Model for Developing Experiences Through the Experiential Taxonomy," is scheduled to appear in the journal this fall.

The project gained official recognition in April of this year when it was selected as one of 20 projects to receive state funding. The moneis received from the state permitted the district to hire a research assistatn, Dr. Marilyn Harrison, to prepare the project for use in special education classes,

Rebekah officers instructed

During a recent meeting of the Silver Link Rebekah Lodge in the Upland IOOF Hall, Vera Burbank, district deputy president, was escorted to a seat of honor by Mrs. Homer Washburn, lodge conductor. Mrs. Burbank gave instructions to officers.

Plans were made for a tour of Hickory Farms.

Mrs. Washburn, good fellowship chairman, announced she is selling jars of honey and procceds will go to Dolly Teutschman, president of the Rebekah Assembly, for the remodeling of the boys' dorm.

The Rebekah social circle met at the home of Mrs. Jay Rowberry for a potluck meal. Circle meetings will not be held in August and September.

On Sept. 19, a hamburger fry will be held at Mrs. Watts Cate's home with Harriett Bennett and Mrs. Maurice Junod as co-hostesses.

Sheila Startz of Upland proudly displays her dimples and the trophy she won when she was named "Miss Congeniality" during the recent Miss California competition in Los Angeles. Miss Startz, 17, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Startz of Upland and will be a senior at Upland High School this fall. She previously had entered the Miss San Gabriel contest and was encouraged to enter the current competition. Miss Startz, who plans to become a professional singer, anticipates entering future contests. Robin Ridenour of Bakersfield won the Miss California title. She will represent this state in the Miss U.S.A. contest of the Miss World beauty pageant next month. The Miss California pageant featured a swim suit competition in bikinis instead of the traditional one-piece suits.

Upland named official Bicentennial city

Upland has been designated an official Bicentennial city, Rep. Jim Lloyd, D-35th, has announced.

"I'm happy to have Upland as an official participant in the 200th birthday of the United States," Lloyd said.

Upland joins Ontario, Montclair and Fontana in the ranks of official Bicentennial cities.

To be recognized as a Bicentennial community, a city must organize a Bicentennial committee representative of all segments of the community.

The committee must plan activities or projects that will have lasting significance and serve as a reminder of the Bicentennial celebration.

The permanent projects submitted by the Upland Bicentennial Committee include a new flag pole for the city hall plaza, a time capsule to be unearthed in 2076, and tiles on which members of a family can have their names inscribed for an estimated $100 per tile. Funds will finance activities of the Bicentennial committee.

A series of plaques for some 30 historical landmarks in Upland also has been proposed by the committee.

Supervisors okay new juror system

A consolidated jury selection system that will reduce the number of jurors required in the county each year by 13,000 and will save $17,000 has been approved by the county board of supervisors.

The "Unified Jury Selection Program" adopted by the county places the recruitment of jurors for both the Superior Courts and Municipal Courts under the Superior Court coordinator.

The Superior Court currently handles selection for the Municipal Court's Central and West Valley divisions and will now assume the jury selection for the Valley, East Valley, Chino, Victorville and Barstow divisions.

About $10,000 will be saved by reduced compensation for jurors—since there will be 13,000 fewer jurors each year. Another $7,000 will be saved by reduced mailing requirements.

The action was taken by the board of supervisors Monday

Here's an artist's rendering of a Bank of America "Bankmobile" being installed at Base Line Road and Carnelian Street in Alta Loma. Opening is scheduled for late August.

Approved budget to create tax hike

The Alta Loma School District Board of Trustees recently approved a $2.59 million budget that is expected to produce a five-cent tax hike.

The tax increase is attributed to state loan repayment for Jasper Elementary School, which is currently under construction.

Alta Loma voters in February, 1974, approved a 11-cents tax override for construction of a $1 million elementary school at the northeast corner of Jasper Street and 18th Street. Without that voter-approved tax increase, the recently adopted budget would have resulted in a six-cent drop in taxes.

Next school year's Alta Loma School District tax rate is estimated at $1.504 per $100 assessed valuation. The present tax rate is $1.457.

The $2,593,286 budget recently approved by Alta Loma trustees includes a $70,000 contingency, or reserve account, and another $46,834 in anticipated cash balance for the close of next school year.

The lesson will be from Gleason's Parliamentarian Book on "Conducting a Meeting." The presentation will be given by Alma Kinnett, Rubie Rowland and Laura Kuprinski.

Anyone interested in obtaining credit to become a member of the Parliamentarian Association is asked to call Althea Correll at 985-1968 for further information.

Cucamonga-Guasti Park

Park expansion planned

The county plans to spend $250,000 in state funds to expand the Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park, it was revealed Monday at a meeting of the board of supervisors.

The supervisors Monday adopted a resolution asking the state to permit the county to transfer $250,000 of the county's allocation of 1974 Bond Act funds from Glen Helen Regional Park to the Cucamonga-Guasti Park.

The funds had been earmarked for an equestrian center at Glen Helen Regional Park. Instead, they will be used to purchase additional land to the north of the existing Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park.

Kent Lihme, chief of the administrative services division for the county's regional parks department, said his department requested the change because the use of Glen Helen Regional Park has not been as high as had been anticipated.

He said the regional parks department would rather spend the bond act money on the Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park.

"We've got a park there that's mostly water," Lihme said. "We'd like to get some more land so we can have room for more people."

Lihme said all of the funds, which are to come from the state this fall, will be used for land acquisition only.

"No funds have been set aside for development at this time," Lihme said, "but we might get our crews out there to move the fence out to create more space."

Lihme said it has not been firmly established how much land could be purchased with the $250,000.

The Cucamonga-Guasti Regional Park, located on Archibald Avenue above the San Bernardino Freeway, currently contains a sand-bottomed swimming pool and two fishing lakes surrounded by grassy areas.

Ticktockers help patients

Ticktockers from Foothill Chapter of National Charity League (NCL), Inc., are participating in a new philanthrophy program this summer with patients at Upland Convalescent Hospital.

Ticktockers from grades seven through twelve are represented in the project and assist JoAnn Charleston, director of activities at the convalescent hospital.

Each morning and each afternoon, two Ticktockers work with patients at the hospital. Their responsibilities include wheeling patients to various sections of the hospital where therapy programs, church services and craft projects are being conducted; organizing card and other games; distributing prizes; and helping with crafts.

On an individual basis, Ticktockers work with many patients, helping with grooming, delivering mail, reading and writing letters and dialing telehone numbers.

All of the Ticktockers involved in this project first completed an orientation training program at the hospital with Mrs. Charleston. According to Mrs. Hurley Robinson, NCL's service to the community chairman, 19 Ticktockers have completed the training program and are working with patients at the hospital.

Ticktockers involved are: Judy Symonds, Denise Philips, Mary Kate Clinton, Jeanne McGurty, Tammy Weber, Mary McPherson, Michelle Wagner, Kelly Smothers, Wendy Schulze, Mikko Mayeda, Tricia Robinson, Kenna Ogg, Staci Iles, Pam Jones, Stephanie Anton, Sara Cheverton, Kelly Shobe, Jeanette Freehling and Jennie Ann Dingle.

A Vacation Bible School will be held 9 a.m.-noon Aug. 11-15 at the First Southern Baptist Church of Cucamonga, 7450 Archibald Ave. for preschool through high school aged students. The school will include Bible stories, songs and crafts. To register, call 987-3676. Last day to register is Monday.

SD Drive-In

"Two A Penny," originally produced for commercial theater distribution, will be presented Sunday beginning at 8:15 p.m. in the drive-in only at the Valley Community Drive-In Church, Lone Hill Avenue and Covina Boulevard, San Dimas.

World Wide Pictures, exclusive distributors of Billy Graham films, rates this film as one which "young men and women are going to find so absorbing that it will not leave them alone ... It will haunt them..."

The story takes place in London where the girl friend of the principal character, Jamie, a young London "lay-about," places her faith and trust in Christ at a meeting of the London Crusade. Because of her changed life, Jamie (played by Cliff Richard) begins to see that her experience was sincere and meaningful. He comes to want a similar happening in his life.

Dr. Vincent Bennett, former professor of Bible at Azusa Pacific College, will bring the morning message at both the 8:30 a.m. drive-in and 11 a.m. walk-in, drive-in services. Dr. Bennett is on the staff of the church. Sunday School for all ages will be at 9:30 a.m.

Christ Lutheran

"Stay With the Body" will be Sunday's sermon theme by Dr. A.L. Plueger at Christ Lutheran Church, 5500 Francis Ave., Chino.

Claremont Methodist

The Rev. Karen Van Hook, associate minister and wife of the minister of the Cucamonga Methodist Church, will preach at the 9:15 a.m. and 11:05 a.m. services of the Claremont United Methodist Church Sunday. Her topic will be "Christians Under Construction-Part I." The Summer Choir, under the direction of Donal Brinegar, director of music, will sing "Turn Back, O Man" by Holst at both services.

FIESTA ENTERTAINMENT — Ron Zack and his polka band will provide some of the entertainment at the three-day fiesta to be held by the Antol Martin Slomsek Catholic School at the Sacred Heart Church, 12704 Foothill Blvd., Etiwanda Aug. 15-17. Funds raised from the fiesta will be used to help support the elementary school.

At Temple Beth Israel

Sunday open houses set

Temple Beth Israel, 3033 N. Towne Ave., Pomona, will hold open house the first four Sundays in August from 10 a.m. to 12 p.m. each Sunday.

The purpose of these open house events are to acquaint new Jewish families, non-affiliated families or other interested people in the area, with the building and grounds of the reform synagogue.

Rabbi Irving A. Mandel, leader of the congregation for the past thirteen years, and Mrs. Phil (Micky) Ross, the first woman ever elected president of the board of trustees, will be present each Sunday to visitors.

Leaders from all the auxiliarys and major committees will be on hand to answer questions. These include Sisterhood, which uses the circle concept for a wide range of activities of interest and involvement, both to the Temple and the community at large.

Brotherhood, the mens club, has received two national awards for "outstanding service to temple and community." It is the only such group to receive this national award twice.

Leaders from Bity, the youth group and their advisor will be present.

Coordinators and teachers from the religious school and Hebrew department will be on hand to explain about their programs for the coming year.

Temple Beth Israel as a congregation is 44 years old and has been in the present location for 13 years.

Some very interesting and educational programs, celebrations and special mini-courses on a wide variety of topics are planned for the coming year.

The gift shop will be open for shopping. The Jewish High Holy days come very early this year and items need for these and other occasions will be available.

The public is invited and refreshments will be served.

Convocation on the arts set

The Cucamonga United Methodist Church, Archibald Avenue at Church Street, has sent their choir director, Lucile Murray, to Buckhannon, West Virginia to attend Renaissance '75. Also attending are the Rev. Terry Van Hook, minister; Joan Achuff, worship chairman; and Susan Achuff, organist.

Renaissance '75 is a convocation on worship, music, and other arts presented by West Virginia Wesleyan College for Methodist churches throughout the United States. Various workshops include Roberto Escamilla of Board of Discipleship, presenting liberation theology, preaching and worship; Lloyd Pfautsch of Southern Methodist University on conducting; Donald Mauch of Methodist Theological School in Ohio on drama on worship and others.

This is a week-long session on topics including education, music, worship and other fine arts.

While Rev. Van Hook is at Renaissance '75 Dr. Ralph Click will preach at the church. Dr. Click is the director of the Euclid Pastoral Counseling Center, and brings to the pulpit years of Christian service. Worship service starts at 10:30 a.m. and Church School begins at 9:15 a.m.

Theology school gift

The library of the School of Theology at Claremont has received a gift from Dr. Wendell Phillips to underwrite the cost of certain fine limited photostatic editions of very early Hebrew manuscripts of the Old Testament.

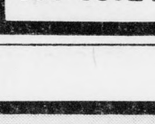

The rare books which this grant makes available to the school's library include copies of the oldest complete texts of the Old Testament in Hebrew now known to exist.

Booklet on citrus

Why don't my young navel orange trees produce? Why are the leaves on my lemon tree turning yellow? Why does my grapefruit tree look so thin, as though it is going to die?

In response to questions like these, University of California Agricultural Extension Service farm adviser Richard E. Puffer has written a publication entitled, "What's Wrong With My Citrus Tree?", for San Bernardino County residents.

For this free booklet, write to the Agricultural Extension Service, 566 Lugo Ave., San Bernardino, CA 92415, or telephone 383-2768.

Avoid mower injuries now

About 123,500 persons a year are injured seriously enough by home yard and garden equipment to require treatment in hospital emergency rooms.

More than 50,000 are hurt by power lawn mowers. The victim usually runs the mower over his toes or sticks a foot in the discharge chute or fingers under the mower edge.

Many injuries are caused by rocks, glass, chunks of wood and other rubbish that are picked up and thrown by the blades.

Most such accidents are avoidable, say a mower manufacturer in Chicago and the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C., who offer these safety tips:

Always start the mower outdoors, not in a garage or a basement where deadly carbon monoxide fumes can collect.

Before starting to mow, rake away obstacles in the grass, such as wires, cans, rocks and twigs. If the mower blade hits pipes projecting from the ground, curbs, sidewalks, tree or weed stumps, it can suffer permanent damage, and there's always the chance it might chip off a bit of wood or concrete and hurl it at a bystander.

Don't rely on a clutch or a neutral gear alone when you want to remove an obstruction or readjust cutting height. Stop the engine every time.

To prevent accidental starting when your hands are near the blade, disconnect the spark plug wire from the plug.

Steel-toed shoes offer the best protection from foot injuries, but spiked, cleated or rib-soled shoes provide good traction, especially for working on a slight slope.

Never mow a wet lawn. You could slip and come in contact with the rotating blade or be tempted to try to clear the blade if it becomes clogged with wet grass.

Ferns can be refreshing

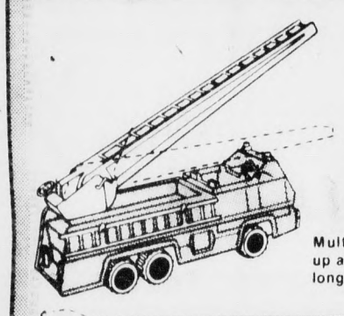

Bright flowering plants are hard to beat — but for a good, green "woodsy look," consider ferns to add a refreshing touch. They are readily adaptable and easy to grow, providing a few simple cultural requirements are met.

Ferns generally prefer shade and a deep, loose soil rich in humus — the kind you scoop-up from under old, large trees, full of twigs and leaves and half decayed wood. Fortunately, your nurseryman can recommend a ready-to-use planter mix that contains all the necessary ingredients.

Some ferns can take more sun and wind than given credit for. This is especially true of the varieties native to California and North America's coastal climates. The sword fern is one of these. It grows to about three feet and is excellent for naturalizing under trees. The woodwardia fern, which produces five-foot fronds, is another hardy candidate; it makes a trouble-free background for low shrubs on the north or east side of the house.

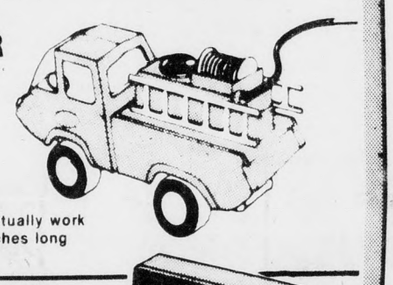

The maidenhair fern is a moisture lover, with small, fine leaflets. It excels as a ground cover or a pot plant subject. There is a five finger maidenhair that is distinguishable by its unique foliage shape.

Short ribs are super

Short ribs, good at any time of the year, are a favorite on the barbecue scene. Wondering how to manage to make them juicy, flavorful and extra tasty on the grill this year without cooking them for hours? Turn to 15 minute meat marinade. Use the delicious recipe created by the experts in the Jeannette Frank Kitchens.

They're ready for grilling after just 15 quick minutes. For successful outdoor cooking, be sure to never barbecue over flames — wait until the fuel has burned down to red hot embers. Keep water nearby to douse any sudden flame-ups. To pass with the meat, there's a good dipping sauce made from the remaining marinade.

Serve with a fresh fruit salad, summer squash, corn bread and wine, if desired. Don't forget this marinade mixture for other summer barbecuing too — it's great on beef chuck steaks or roasts, beef round, etc. Barbecue buffs can be assured that with 15 minutes meat marinade, summer grilling will be fast, creative, convenient and easy-going.

Mandarin Short Ribs

4 pounds beef short ribs
1 package 15 minute meat marinade
½ cup orange marmalade
½ cup orange juice
¼ teaspoon thyme
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
2 tablespoons cooking oil
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon hot mustard

Trim excess fat from ribs. In shallow 9x13-inch glass baking dish, thoroughly blend Adolph's 15 Minute Meat Marinade with ¼ cup orange marmalade, ¼ cup orange juice, thyme, cloves, oil, lemon juice and mustard. Place ribs in marinade; turn. Pierce all surfaces of meat deeply and thoroughly with fork. Marinate only 15 minutes, turning several times. Remove meat from marinade; reserve remaining marinade. Grill 6 inches above hot coals 40 to 45 minutes, or to desired degree of doneness, turning frequently. Meanwhile, in small saucepan, combine remaining marinade with remaining ¼ cup marmalade and ¼ cup orange juice. Heat to boiling on grill or range; simmer 5 to 10 minutes. Serve sauce over ribs or in small bowls for dipping. Makes 5 to 6 servings.

Health Tips

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Tips is a column of the California Medical Education and Reserach Foundation, prepared and edited by phy sician members of the California Medical Association. It is reprinted by this newspaper as a public service.

Having a meal in a lovely outdoor setting is one of the joys of summer. But food infection from bacteria can quickly dim that joy.

In planning your picnic, remember that the simpler the meal is, the safer it is likely to be. If you are in a mood to do fancy cooking, complete with cream sauces, custard fillings and other rich foods, prepare and serve such a meal at home where you can control the temperature at which your food is stored and served. Don't plan such food for a picnic.

Food that is kept at room temperature for any length of time becomes a breeding ground for a variety of bacteria, many of which can cause food poisoning — a disorder that can range from severe discmfort to acute danger. The interlude of time between when you prepare your food at home and when, having arrived at your destination, you finally eat your picnic is more than time enough for the bacteria to flourish.

If you are trying to keep food cool, it should be kept below 40 degrees; hot food should be above 140 degrees. An insulated box with a tight-fitting cover will keep food cool for a short period of time, but ice melts rather quickly in hot weather and should be replaced often. If you manage it, you are much safer using a small portable refrigerator which operates off your car battery.

Here are some picnic safety pointers:

—If you want to include cooked foods in your meal and you prefer to do the cooking at home, freeze the food when it is done and keep it frozen. When you are ready to eat, heat it, preferably to 165 degrees.

—Make your sandwiches at the picnic site, not at home. Your safest choice for fillings are meat products, chicken and meat salads, provided they have been kept in the original, unopened, vacuum-packed jar or can. Be sure to check the label to make sure that the contents do not require refrigeration.

—Include fresh fruits and vegetables in your picnic menu. Wash them before leaving home.

—Bring your own drinking water.

—Protect your food from flies and other contamination.

—Don't let anyone with sores, cuts or boils prepare the food.

If someone in your group does develop food infection, it will probably first manifest itself by abdominal discomfort, diarrhea, headache, chills and fever. If the onset is fairly rapid (within two hours after eating), it may help to try to get the victim to vomit by sticking a finger down his throat or having him drink a mixture of mustard and lukewarm water.

If the illness does not develop until later (and it may be as long as 72 hours after eating the infecte dfood), induced vomiting will not help. It is important to get the victim to a doctor as soon as possible since persistent vomiting and diarrhea can cause dehydration.

HEALTH NEWS . . .

Finger Numbness and Tingling Dictated This Secretary's Condition

By Dr. W. P. Helzer, D.C.

Dr. Wes Helzer, D.C.

A recent discussion of pain, numbness and tingling which can result from pressure on a nerve root in the neck brought forth a visit from a secretary who, it appears, had numbness and tingling of the fingers.

Is this also a neck bone oriented condition?

Whether you know it or not, this is the Carpal-Tonnel syndrome. Bony changes in the neck are a common cause of such troubles but it is never safe to jump to conclusions.

In every case you have to find the point at which the pressure is exerted on the nerves and then find a suitable way to remove the pressure.

Carpal-Tonnel syndrome represents pressure on the median nerve as it passes through the wrist — usually a scarring or thickening of the sheath surrounding the nerve there.

This particular ailment is featured by numbness and tingling of the first and second fingers, and part of the third, that being the area served by the nerve.

The condition may result from injury or a variety of other causes. It is sometimes seen with the menopause, or with low thyroid states, among others.

It can, obviously, to some extent, resemble disorders of the neck, spine or presence of a cervical rib.

With disorders originating in the neck, the symptoms are usually exaggerated at night.

Neck disorders generally affect more than just the appropriate fingers for Carpal-tonnel syndrome.

In any event, competent diagnosis will differentiate Carpal-Tonnel syndrome from neck spine pressures.

Finding the cause in a particular case is important. Commencement of effective treatment is crucial. Numbness and tingling in the fingers is not a casual situation.

'Robin and Marian'

Audrey Hepburn is back

Audrey Hepburn, absent from the screen since her starring role in "Wait Until Dark" in 1967, is now before the cameras in Spain for a co-starring title role in "Robin and Marian," an action-adventure film in which she portrays the Maid Marian, true love of Robin Hood, portrayed by Sean Connery.

The actress, an Academy Award winner for "Roman Holiday," her first American film performance in 1953, does not look her new film role as a "comeback."

"I never retired," she states quite simply. "I'm not Garbo. I always hoped to make another film. The time was right for me and the part was right, too."

At the location site outside Pamplona, the actress made it quite clear that her family life is most important to her.

"They (sons Sean, 14, and Luca, 5, and husband Roman psychiatrist Dr. Andrea Dotti) will always come first," she affirmed. "So, even if you say I am 'coming back' now, it doesn't mean I will stay back now."

Movie news

Screenwriter James Goldman, the actress revealed, created a remarkable screen character in Maid Marian, a role of such depth and latitude that it both intrigued and captivated her into a return to acting.

She explained, "HIs role of Maid Marian is very special to me. She's a woman of spirit, courage and intelligence. it's a beautiful part.

"I have always been a rabid movie fan and go as often as possible, particularly to romantic movies. This is that kind of movie, and I, am truly enjoying being a part of it."

A boxoffice favorite since her first major film role in 1951 with Sir Alec Guiness in "The Lavender Hill Mob," Audrey Hepburn is best remembered for outstanding screen performances in such films as "Roman Holiday" with Gregory Peck, for which she also was awarded the British Film Academy Award,; "Sabrina" with William Holden, "War and Peace," "Funny Face" with Fred Astaire, "The Nun's Story," for which she received her second B.F.A. Award, "Breakfat at Tiffany's," "Charade" with Cary Grant and an unforgettable Eliza Doolittle with Rex Harrison in "My Fair Lady."

"Robin and Marian," a Rastar-Shepherd production directed by Richard Lester, is a dramatizaion of the enduring love story of legendary English outlaw Robin Hood and Maid Marian in their autumn years, of his undying loyalty to King Richard the Lionheart, portrayed by Richard Harris, and Robin's final battlefield confrontation with his arch-rival, the Sheriff of Nottingham, played by Robert Shaw.

Featured in the cast are such noted Britisn players as Nicol Williamson, Denholm Elliott, Ronnie Barker, Ian Holm and Kenneth Haigh.

'ROBIN AND MARIAN' — Three noted movie figures gather at Pamplona, Spain for the start of filming on "Robin and Marian," Rastar-Shepherd production for Columbia Pictures, which marks the return to the screen of Audrey Hepburn, co-starred with Sean Connery (left) in the title roles, and the film's director, Richard Lester.

150 cats to make film debut

More than 150 cats of every color, size and description are making their movie debuts this week at MGM in scenes for Saul David's production of "Logan's Run."

Hetty Kram, operator of the home for stray cats which is maintained solely via private donations, agreed to provide "Logan's Run" with the felines for two reasons.

"We are grateful for the donation that MGM will provide in return for the use of our homeless animals," she said, "but most important, we hope the movie appearances will help us find homes for them. Who can resist a free offer of a cat who has been featured in a multimillion-dollar motion picture?"

Mrs. Kram, a Social Security pensioner, has been operating the Cat Care Shelter at 2250 Barrie Avenue since 1960 as a non-profit venture. She takes in an estimated 500 stray cats annually and manages to place 350 of them in homes each year.
